CLIMBERS LOSE GAME IN SIXTEENTH INNING

Toughest Kind of Break That Brings About Defeat of Southerners in Second Tilt of Series, After Brilliant Exhibition by Both Teams.

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—After a sixteen-inning battle, Richmond was finally squelched by the Newark team in the second tilt of the series to-day, 4 to 3. Both Ross, who was on the mound for the Southerners, and Smallwood, the Newark flinger, went the entire route. When the break came—for it was only the breaks of the game that could determine a scrap such as this—it was the toughest kind of hard luck that brought about the defeat.

To begin with, a Richmond runner—Clemens—was thrown out at the plate in the sixteenth inning, checking what appeared to be a winning rally. Then, breaking under the strain, Kircher booted Healey's grounder in Newark's half, paving the way to the run that cost the game. After Healey gained a life on this foole, Egan got away with an infield hit. Smallwood forced Healey, but Schwert, running for Egan, worked his way to second, and dashed home with the winning run on Cable's safe left to left.

The Tigers went into the fray with blood in their eyes. The long string of defeats forced upon them drove them to fury, and it was only this spirit of desperation that enabled them to hold Smith's men to a draw in the first nine innings, allowing them to win out in the sixteenth. They accomplished this feat, too, finding themselves three runs in the lead.

LAND ON SMALLWOOD LIKE TOX OF BRICKS

The Climbers landed on Pitcher Smallwood like a tox of bricks in the second inning, and there it stayed away the game, and there. May-

Dale started the bombardment by drilling a single, which came near boring through Captain Zimmerman. Bankston followed with a triple to left, and when a three-bagger comes with a runner on first, a run is invariably results. It did in this instance. Bankston also scored when Kircher was being disposed of. Arragon's single, McDermott's suicide, and another safe hit by Kircher closed together a third run for Richmond in the fourth inning. Things now appeared pretty safe for the Southerners, but Newark made a stand in the fifth, and by the time the smoke had cleared away the count was even. A pass to Healey, Egan's single, and another hit by Smallwood populated all the bases, with not a soul out. For a moment Pitcher Ross pulled himself together and fanned Durgin, but a screaming single by Milan sent two runners over the plate, and a third run scored when Zacher was being retired.

The game then drifted into overtime, terminating in the sixteenth round in the manner described.

ORIOLES LOSE ANOTHER

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 2.—The Grays pulled Triple from the mound in the fourth inning of the game here to-day, and continued to make free with Thormahlen's offerings when the latter relieved him, winning the game, 6 to 4. Peters, on the mound for the home team, had his third straight session, though he wavered in the first. The score:
